Section 5. Corporate Governance and Management

Item 5.02 Departure of Directors or Certain Officers; Election of Directors; Appointment of Certain Officers; Compensatory Arrangements of Certain Officers

(d) Election of New Director

Effective October 15, 2009, the Board of Directors of Universal Forest Products, Inc. (the “Corporation”) took action to increase the size of the Board from nine members to ten members and filled the vacancy by electing Bruce A. Merino to the Board for a term expiring at the Corporation’s annual meeting of shareholders to be held in 2010.

There are no arrangements or understandings between Mr. Merino and any other person pursuant to which he was elected as a director.

Mr. Merino is the former senior vice president for The Home Depot, Inc. and the former president of its Expo Design Center. He was an executive officer of The Home Depot, Inc. from January of 2004 to September of 2007. The Home Depot, Inc. is a significant customer of the Corporation and represented approximately 27% of the Corporation’s total net sales in fiscal 2008. However, the Corporation does not believe Mr. Merino’s former position with The Home Depot, Inc. necessarily resulted in him having a material interest in the Corporation’s transactions with The Home Depot, Inc.

Other than any interest Mr. Merino may have had as a result of his former employment and affiliation with The Home Depot, there have been no transactions since the completion of the Corporation’s 2007 fiscal year, nor are there any currently proposed transactions, to which the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries was, or is to be, a party, and which the amount involved exceeds $120,000 and in which Mr. Merino had, or will have, a direct or indirect material interest that is required to be disclosed pursuant to Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K.

Mr. Merino has not yet been appointed to a Board Committee.

Strong financial position leads UFPI to largest dividend increase in its history

Former senior executive of The Home Depot joins Board of Directors

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Monday, Oct. 19, 2009 – Universal Forest Products, Inc. (Nasdaq: UFPI) today announced that its Board of Directors approved an increase in its Dec. 15, 2009, dividend, to $0.20 per share, at their Oct. 15, 2009, meeting. It marks the 27th consecutive year the Company has paid a dividend and represents the largest increase in its history. The dividend is payable to shareholders of record on Dec. 1, 2009.

The Company also announced the appointment of Bruce Merino, former senior vice president of merchandising for The Home Depot and president of Depot's Expo Design Center, to its Board of Directors, effective Oct. 15, 2009.

"Given our strong financial position and our optimism for the future, we chose to return cash to those who have placed their investment in Universal Forest Products by increasing our December dividend," said Chairman William G. Currie. "We're proud to be in the position to make this decision and still have the resources available to sustain our growth strategies so that our shareholders remain pleased with their investment in us."

"As long as the Company maintains its strong balance sheet, we expect to continue semiannual dividends at this increased level," Currie added. "Of course, any future decisions will be affected by our capital needs for growth, including acquisitions."

About the appointment of Merino to the board, Currie said: "Our ability to attract a professional of Bruce Merino's caliber underscores the strength of Universal Forest Products and the optimism for its future. Bruce knows our markets and our company, and for decades he delivered success for The Home Depot. We couldn't have found a better, more qualified board member and we're honored Bruce chose to join us."

In 2009, Bruce Merino concluded a 25-year career at Depot in the position of senior vice president of merchandising and president of Expo Design Center. He was a member of the senior leadership team that set and executed strategy for The Home Depot, growing the company from 15 stores and $80 million in sales to 2,000 stores and $70 billion in sales. Merino sits on the City of Hope's Home Improvement Board Council and is its chair. Prior to joining Home Depot, Merino was employed by Handyman stores for 12 years. He has accumulated more than 37 years of home improvement retail experience.

"I grew to have great respect for Universal as a vendor and company over the years, and am pleased to have the opportunity to help guide its strategies and success," Merino said. "The strong values and work ethic on which the company is built, the skill of its management team, its solid, diverse business model and its keen focus on the customer give me great confidence in Universal's future. I'm honored to have the opportunity to play a part, and to join solid board of experienced leaders and strategists."
